

frequently asked questions

Network Depth and Quad Systems

“My Network Depth or Quad display makes a regular “ticking noise”

This is perfectly normal and indicates that the unit is functioning correctly. Within the display, there is a powerful transformer that increases the transducer voltage to the levels necessary to fire a depth pulse. It is this particular component that you can hear.

B&G Customer Support
Premier Way
Abbey Park
Romsey
Hampshire
SO51 9DH
UK